

Wildlife Service's (USFWS) mishandling of funds from the Pittman-Robertson, Dingell-Johnson Act and other programs which were specifically set aside to fund state fish and game departments. Even more reprehensible is the USFWS's attempt to divert these funds to anti-hunting groups. We are thankful that The Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration and Improvement Act of 2000 will help to stop these and other abuses.

Chairman Young, we sincerely appreciate your commitment and efforts that will benefit the preservation and conservation of our nation's sportsmen's and outdoor heritage.

Very truly yours,

C.M. VAN EMAN,
President.

THE MULE DEER FOUNDATION,
Reno, NV, April 5, 2000.

Hon. DON YOUNG,
Chairman, House Resources Committee, House of Representatives, Washington, DC

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: Your leadership for The Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration and Improvement Act of 2000 is to be commended. The Mule Deer Foundation (MDF) anticipates this bill, when enacted, will assist the US Fish and Wildlife Service to better manage Federal Aid funds. MDF is especially supportive of good management of the funds from the Pittman-Robertson Act and the Dingell-Johnson Act. These Acts are central to the conservation funding in this country and are, frankly, an unprecedented model for sustainable conservation worldwide. Hunters and fishermen in our country historically have been the first to step to the plate to support conservation and these Acts provide a critical source of funding for conservation to stated conservation agencies. With the disparate pressures that come from varied interests, it is of critical importance that we continue to safeguard and improve the management of these funds.

The Mule Deer Foundation recognizes that this bill passed out of the House Resources Committee with an amazing 36-0 vote. MDF would like to voice its support for this bill and congratulations to the Committee for its bi-partisan approach to improving management of Federal Aid Funds.

The Mule Deer Foundation is a 501(c)(3) not for profit, charitable organization whose Mission is to ensure the conservation of mule and blacktailed deer and their habitats.

Chairman Young, on behalf of The Mule Deer Foundation, let me thank you and your Committee on this effort in behalf of America's conservation programs.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM I. MORRILL,
President, and CEO.

Hon. DON YOUNG, Chairman, House Resources Committee, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: Since the founding of the Mobile County Wildlife Association and the Alabama Wildlife Federation in the mid 1930's, my family has been involved in the innumerable conservation and wildlife organizations. We have spent untold dollars and man-hours furthering the conservation of wildlife and wildlife habitat.

I tell you this to say thank you for introducing The Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration and Improvement Act of 2000. This bill will help stop the mismanagement by the current leadership of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Dingell-Johnson Act, the Pittman-Robertson Act and other programs administered by the Division of Federal Aid.

It is wrong for the current leaders of the Fish and Wildlife Service to loot this uniquely effective program to create slush funds and use it as a cash cow to cover foreign travel and unrelated administrative expenses. Their attempt to divert these funds to anti-hunting groups is an even worse affront.

We greatly appreciate your leadership in upholding our sportsmen-conservationist heritage and taking steps to clean up the problems at the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Sincerely,

W.S. (SANDY) STIMPSON,
Sr. Vice President.

CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION MONTH

HON. JAMES P. MORAN

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 13, 2000

Mr. MORAN of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, today I commemorate April as the Child Abuse Prevention month and to inform my colleagues of a quiet but devastating situation that continues to plague our nation: that of child abuse and neglect. In this time of prosperity we are leaving needy children behind.

More than 1 million children are reported abused and neglected in this country each year. This is an amazing statistic, especially when most cases of neglect and abuse are not reported.

In Virginia, according to the American Humane Association's Children Division in 1997, there were 11,792 confirmed reports of maltreatment to children.

The situation, as it exists right now, simply cannot go on. These children need and deserve our help, and Congress can and must step in if we are to begin to better tackle this public health epidemic and national tragedy. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support vital federal programs that seek to address this problem through improved preventive and early intervention services.

The effects of child abuse are felt by communities as a whole and need to be addressed by the entire community. All citizens should become more aware of the negative effects of child abuse and its prevention within the community. All citizens should become involved in supporting vulnerable and at risk parents to raise their children in a safe nurturing environment. This is why it is important to recognize April as Child Abuse Prevention Month.

All citizens, community agencies, religious organizations, medical facilities, and businesses should increase their participation in our efforts to prevent child abuse, thereby strengthening the communities in which we live.

Child maltreatment has ramifications far beyond the actual physical and psychological harm done to the child. It also affects school readiness, juvenile crime and poor health outcomes. We simply must do more.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that I can count on my colleagues to recognize this month as Child Abuse Prevention Month and give strong support of these and other measures so that we can seek to put an end to what can only be called a national epidemic.

TAXPAYER BILL OF RIGHTS 2000

SPEECH OF

HON. BENJAMIN A GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 11, 2000

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am in strong support of H.R. 4163, the Taxpayer Bill of Rights 2000. I urge my colleagues to join in supporting this important legislation.

H.R. 4163 is a bipartisan bill designed to provide further protections to taxpayers from regulatory abuse by the Internal Revenue Service. In recent years, the Congress has adopted several of these taxpayer bill of rights, which have done much to reign in some of the more outrageous abuses heaped on taxpayers, who, by no fault of their own, have run afoul of overzealous IRS personnel.

This legislation offers a number of important protections for those individuals who have been unable to pay their taxes on time and thus have incurred additional interest and penalty charges. Specifically, the bill repeals the present day penalty for failure to pay tax, for those taxpayers that have entered into installment payments with the IRS to repay large outstanding balances.

Additionally, this bill: Expands circumstances where interest on underpayment of taxes may be abated, simplifies estimated tax calculations, limits taxpayer exposure to underpayment interest through the use of qualified reserve accounts, and tightens the privacy rights of taxpayers through limiting disclosure options open to the IRS.

Mr. Speaker, similar bills in the past have done much to provide protection to taxpayers from overbearing Federal agencies with regulations that have had unintended consequences in their implementation. This legislation continues that tradition by offering important protections to have, for whatever reason, made under-payments on taxes owed and are subsequently trying to make good on any overdue balances.

Accordingly, I urge my colleagues to support this worthy legislation.
